The Lost Kite

One windy afternoon, Noah and his sister Lily went to the park with their colourful kite. The sky was clear, and the wind was strong — perfect for flying a kite! Noah held the string tightly as the kite soared high. Lily clapped and cheered. Suddenly, a strong gust of wind pulled the kite from Noah's hands. "Oh no!" he shouted.

The kite flew over the trees and disappeared. Noah and Lily searched around the park. They looked behind bushes, near the swings, and under the benches.

Finally, they saw the kite stuck in a tree. A kind gardener nearby helped get it down using a long pole. Noah and Lily thanked him and smiled with relief. They held the string tighter this time and watched the kite dance in the wind again.
